

CONTROL OF UNION MARKET WAITS ON MOVE BY MAYOR

Revenue-Producing Properties of City Have Been in Charge of Comptroller for 35 Years.

ALDERMEN DEFEAT NOLTE'S ORDINANCE

Move Is Expected to Give Director of Safety Broad Benefit of Considerable Patronage.

On the block bounded by Broadway, Lucas avenue, Sixth and Morgan streets the city has a $1,000,000 building, nearly completed, erected for Union Market and a municipal garage, but city officials are in a quandary over what to do with it.

It is a fine looking four-story structure of buff brick, with green-painted grills on the big market windows, and on the right side the street has been widened to allow for the prospective Morgan street widening.

There are some fine points involved in the question of the management of this building, all due to the success of Mayor Miller's effort to defeat an ordinance authorizing the Comptroller to manage it.

Comptroller's Ordinance Defeated. Quite likely it will be a matter for the City Council to rule on. Comptroller Nolte declared today that the next move is the Mayor's, to indicate the administration's view in the matter.

Director of Public Safety Brod, his appointee, and Director Brod obtained the defeat of the Comptroller's ordinance in the last session of the Board of Aldermen.

For 35 years the Comptroller has had charge of the fiscal management of Union Market, making the leases of stalls, and he has charge of other revenue-producing city property. The charter gives him general supervision of the city's property.

However, the charter provides that the Health Commissioner shall have charge of the markets, and therefore the official, a subordinate of the Director of Public Welfare, has had the appointment of market officials and employees.

Meaning of Charter in Doubt. Again, the charter provides that the Department of Building and Inspection, under the Director of Public Safety, shall superintend all public buildings. It also provides that the Board of Aldermen shall determine functions of the various city departments. Lastly, section 11, article VIII of the charter says: "All questions between officials as to the relative powers and duties shall be determined by the Mayor, except as in this charter otherwise provided."

The latter section would seem to make the decision in the market building quandary the Mayor's, but for the final clause, which throws some doubt on the matter.

Garage in Upper Floors. Built from bond issue funds on the site of the old Union Market, the new building has three stories above the high market floor, the garage, the purpose of which is to reduce traffic congestion, provide a place for market customers to park and produce income for the city. A public garage is a new departure in municipal facilities here, and will increase the number of jobs for official distribution. The garage floors are expected to be completed for use within the next three weeks. The market probably will not be ready before September.

Comptroller Nolte had supposed the building naturally would remain in his jurisdiction. The bill giving him the management was defeated by a vote of 12 to 11, after considerable debate. It carried a $50,000 appropriation for operation, and provided for a superintendent, two assistants and helpers.

Board May Act. The Board of Estimate and Apportionment, during the summer adjournment of the Board of Aldermen, can make an emergency appropriation for the conduct of the market and garage. Comptroller Nolte said today. He does not intend to ask the City Council for an opinion in the controversy, or to take the initiative otherwise. Mayor Miller, as is known, is in St. Luke's Hospital for treatment for an intestinal ailment. His secretary, William T. Flindly, said the Mayor had not made his attitude for the market building matter known.

City Counselor Senti declared that he had given no consideration to the matter and didn't intend to unless officially asked for an opinion.

Health Commissioner Starkfield said that, if nothing else was done, he expected to appoint a market master whenever the market section is ready for use, under the charter authority, which he said had been upheld in a legal opinion 10 years ago. He does not think he should have the management of the garage section, and is not seeking that added duty. He said the Mayor had not discussed the controversy with him, and added that he supposed a legal opinion would be necessary if the Comptroller's right to manage the leasing of stalls was questioned.

He pointed out that the charter provides that duties may be assigned from one city department to another.

No Action Contemplated. President Neun of the Board of Aldermen, who, with the Comptroller and Mayor, is a member of the Board of Estimate, said he had contemplated taking no action in the controversy, but thought it likely that the Board of Estimate would make an emergency appropriation, appointing temporary officials to work at the building.

Director of Public Safety Brod said it was his idea that the management should remain with the Comptroller and Health Commissioner, as in the past.

Coolidge 15 minutes, during which they tramped about the grounds of White Court, inspected the garden and talked about the pleasures of a vacation. An interesting feature of the visit was that camera men, who wished a picture of the President, he and the Vice President together, were refused permission by Secretary Sanders.

Dawes smiled when he was asked if he discussed his crusade against the tariff with the President. "I didn't mention it; neither did he," the Vice President said. He got out of his car at the entrance to White Court and talked with reporters, analyzing to them his recent address in Manchester, N. H., in which he emphasized that the House under effective closure had passed 108 fewer bills in the last five congresses than the Senate.

Dawes stopped at Swampscott on a route from Kennebunk, Me., to Boston to meet Owen D. Young, his associate on the committee of experts which devised the Dawes plan. Members of the Dawes party said Young was in Boston on private business and his engagement with the Vice President was purely personal.

President Coolidge had not asked Dawes to come this way when he reached Boston. The Vice President sent a telegram ahead saying he would call en route to Swampscott.

Jack Dempsey Welcomed in Paris. By the Associated Press. PARIS, June 27.—Jack Dempsey was the guest of honor yesterday at a luncheon given by the Association of sporting writers. The heavyweight champion fighter was welcomed by Under-Secretary of State for Aviation Laurent Eynac and M. Renaud, under-secretary of State for Physical Culture and Hygiene. The two ministers chatted for a long time with Dempsey.

They were keenly interested in the American fighter's narration of some of his biggest fights, especially that in Jersey City where he knocked out Georges Carpentier.

NEW ACCUSATION IN SYMINGTON CASE

Husband's Story About an Illegitimate Child Told on Stand by Defendant's Mother.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, June 27.—The mother of Ida May Symington, wife of Thomas H. Symington, wealthy railroad supplies manufacturer and sportsman who is suing for a divorce, furnished a sensation in the divorce trial before Justice Ford and jury in Supreme Court yesterday when she testified that Symington told her in 1924 that her daughter had confessed to him she was the mother of an illegitimate son when she was 16.

Mrs. Margaret A. Pinkham, Mrs. Symington's mother, had not finished her story when court adjourned for the week, but Max D. Steuer, attorney for Mrs. Symington, who placed her on the witness stand, declared that Symington tricked Mrs. Pinkham into signing a statement certifying the existence of the illegitimate child. He called upon Symington's attorneys to produce the statement in court on Monday when he will offer it in evidence.

It is the contention of Mrs. Symington's defense that there was no such child, and that Symington sought to get the evidence in order to bring a suit to annul the marriage. Mrs. Symington earlier in the day testified that her only child was her daughter, Dorothea, by a former marriage.

The Mother's Explanation. Steuer apparently forestalled Symington's attorneys in making use of the statement which Mrs. Pinkham stood to tell the circumstances surrounding it. She signed, as was explained partly by her testimony and partly by Steuer's account of what she will testify Monday, in the belief that Mrs. Symington was deceiving her husband, Symington having told her he would adopt the child and make him his heir.

Mrs. Pinkham, who lives in Maplewood, Mass., said she received a telephone call from Symington May 24, 1924, asking her to meet him at the Hotel Touraine, Boston, for lunch. She said she had been of great importance. This was 22 days after Symington had begun divorce proceedings in New York, but her daughter had not told her about the suit.

"I met him and he threw his arms around me and kissed and told me how glad he was I came," said Mrs. Pinkham. "Then he said that Ida had made him very happy. He said that she was his only child and I have told her all about my past. She has told me that she had an illegitimate son when she was 16."

Would Make Boy His Heir. Mrs. Pinkham said she told Symington she was a widow and that she could not understand how her daughter could have said such a thing. She said Symington replied that he was glad his wife had told him voluntarily and that he was going to adopt the boy and make him his legal heir.

"He told me he had found his family out and that at last he knew that they really were," Mrs. Pinkham said. "I told him that I was his mother and he said he was going to cut them out of his life. They were charged with having fraudulently secured the annulment of the dancer's first marriage, which had been tied up in a court case for years."

Mrs. Symington spent most of yesterday on the witness stand, testifying in the straightforward manner that characterized her testimony the preceding day. Yesterday she described what occurred on the second occasion when Talbot W. Chambers, one of the trial co-respondents, had testified he had been intimate with her, denying that she had been guilty of misconduct.

She also told of a visit Chambers paid to her in May, 1924, after the two occasions on which she is charged with misconduct. Chambers came to her apartment at No. 125, East Sixty-third street, and told her he was in financial trouble and that he would probably have to shoot himself. This was a few days before Chambers gave his written "confession" to Symington.

Steuer called several witnesses to refute charges of improprieties between Mrs. Symington and Maurice Patis, an architect, at week-end parties at the Morristown house, at the New York apartment and at Palm Beach.

Bullet Cuts Off Man's Tonsils. By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 27.—David L. Snyder had his tonsils removed in a pistol attack here last night. The operation, though rather informal, was a triumph, pronounced successful by several hospital surgeons, who said the bullet, which entered his right cheek and emerged from his left ear, had not wounded him fatally.

Snyder, according to police, tried to draw a gun on detectives sent to arrest him on suspicion of robbery, but they beat him to the trigger.

SEVEN RUM BOATS TAKEN BY ONE COAST GUARD CUTTER

Single Handed Seizure off Louisiana Coast Includes 6000 Cases of Liquor, 23 Men.

By the Associated Press. MOBILE, Ala., June 27.—White customs officials prepare to remove a huge cargo of seized liquors from a captive schooner to a storage warehouse here today. 23 men arrested aboard that vessel and several smaller craft are expected to face preliminary examination on charges growing out of the haul, in which the coast guard cutter Saukkee rounded up seven boats single handed about 20 miles westward from Southwest Pass, La. Nearly 6000 cases of alcohol and assorted whiskeys secured in burlap and wood packages, constituted the liquor cargo, most of which was carried by the schooner, the Marion Adams, a British registry vessel, when the cargo was alleged to have been in a process of unloading from the schooner. Liquor was found aboard one of the motor boats, coast guard authorities stated.

The haul marked what is believed to be the largest seizure made by a single coast guard vessel since the beginning of the rum blockade along the American coast several weeks ago. Seized as well as the schooner were a motor boat, a single guard boat which had equalled the Saukkee in the number of vessels seized on one occasion. All seven of the captive boats were towed into port here last night and the members of the crews lodged in jail.

POLICEMEN PAY HIGH FOR 'HOMEBREW' DRINK

Patrolman Thomas A. Walsh Fined $50, Fred Keller $25 at Board Meeting.

Patrolmen Thomas A. Walsh and Fred Keller, both of the Angelica District, were fined $50 and $25, respectively, and ordered transferred yesterday for violation of the Board of Police Commissioners' edict forbidding policemen to drink in excess at any time. In addition to the drinking charge, Patrolman Walsh was charged with wandering from his beat.

Police Surgeon Louis Pim testified that he detected the odor of alcohol on the breath of both policemen upon examining them on the night of June 20. Dr. Pim gave it as his opinion that both were fit for duty and gave no evidence of being intoxicated.

Lieut. Thomas Walsh, not related to Patrolman Walsh, in charge of the district on June 20, said he found Walsh and Keller on the latter's beat and that both appeared to have had something stronger than 4% of 1 per cent beverage.

Lieut. Walsh said he ordered both policemen to make reports and both admitted having drunk "home-brew" before coming on duty.

Blamed Corn Cob Pipe. Patrolman Walsh entered a plea of guilty to both charges against him. He said he drank the "home-brew" which had been manufactured by his wife, before coming on duty. In response to a question by Lieut. Walsh as to whether the beer was of sufficient strength to cause the odor of alcohol to remain on his breath until he was examined by Dr. Pim 12 hours later, he said he had smoked his corn cob pipe in the interim and that the pipe may have caused most any sort of odor.

In answer to the charge of leaving his beat Walsh testified he had been detailed to walk half of an adjoining beat on June 20 and that he became lost. Walsh expressed the belief that his Sergeant did not know the exact confines of the beat and that he had been assigned to cover on the day in question was corroborated by Lieut. Walsh.

Patrolman Keller, while entering a formal plea of not guilty to the charge of drinking, testified that he likewise had drunk "home-brew" before coming on duty and also taken a drink of beverage while making the rounds of his district. Keller had been made by his wife also, he testified. He declared it to be a very little concoction.

"Just a cooling summer drink, gentlemen, not intoxicating as far as I am concerned," he said.

The Commissioners' apparently thought differently, and the "cooling drink" cost Patrolman Keller $25.

Following an executive session of the board, President Orrick announced that only routine business had been transacted.

10 Years for Misuse of Mails. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 27.—A sentence of 10 years in the Federal prison at Leavenworth and a fine of $3000 and costs was imposed upon Glenn D. Fryer, 24 years old, of Fort Wayne, by Judge Baltzell in the United States District Court yesterday. He was found guilty of use of the mails in a scheme to defraud in connection with the operation of the Nile Art Co.

The Government charged that Fryer had made $175,000 in a "home work" scheme in which advertisements of the company represented that inexperienced workers could earn large wages.

Miss Isabelle Pope, who waited at the altar for William Nelson McClintock with a license to marry him if he regained consciousness, said: "There was so much left out—so much detail that was important to the whole story—that I don't see how the jury could have convicted Mr. Shepherd unless they heard it all."

"I don't know what they asked the other witnesses, but they didn't ask me half the important things I knew and I of course didn't volunteer any information."

Trial Lasted Six Weeks. The trial of Shepherd began approximately six weeks ago. Three weeks and three days were required for selection of a jury, 12 days for presentation of testimony, and the last three days for arguments by four attorneys.

Shepherd was indicted March 17, last, upon 22 counts, chief of which were that he had used typhoid serum to precipitate a fatal disease in his young foster-son, William Nelson McClintock, who had made a will naming Shepherd chief beneficiary of an estate valued in excess of $1,000,000.

The youth died Dec. 4 last of typhoid fever during a minor epidemic of that disease traced by health officers to contaminated cysters shipped here from the East.

Virtually from the day of the youth's death, however, whispers were heard against Shepherd in Kenilworth, where the Shepherds shared young McClintock's home.

Chief Justice Olson of the Municipal Court of Chicago proclaimed himself "guilty for the dead" and demanded an official investigation.

FAKE KIDNAPING ENDS WITH STUDENT'S ARREST

California Woman, Lured Away by False Message, Telephones Husband She Is Safe.

By the Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—Bliss Baker, 24 years old, a senior student at the University of California, told his mother, when she called on him at the city prison last night, that he was responsible for the attempt made yesterday to obtain $50,000 from Daniel C. Jackling, mining magnate, under the threat that Mrs. Jackling had been kidnapped from her suite at the Hotel St. Francis, police announced today.

The demand for $50,000 was received at Jackling's offices here yesterday after Mrs. Jackling had been called by telephone and told that her sister, Mrs. Rudolph Spreckles, had been seriously injured in an automobile accident in San Mateo County.

Jackling notified the police when the demand was received. Mrs. Jackling telephoned to her husband when she arrived at the Hotel St. Francis, and he learned her sister was not injured, and Baker was arrested with a taxicab driver near Millbrae, at the point where the ransom was to be delivered by Jackling.

After his arrest Baker said he had received his orders to participate in the plot from a mysterious Chinaman, but later he said the entire scheme had been concocted by himself and a book agent whose name he gave as George Beeman. The police are searching for Beeman today. Beeman, Baker said, had the telephone wires from the crackle home in Hillsborough as part of the plot.

"Beeman and I had been studying criminology together," Baker told police. "We followed every tip of the Los Angeles police and I was his ambition to plan and execute a more perfect crime than theirs and when Beeman suggested on Wednesday night that we put our study into execution, I readily assented."

There at the county jail and writing the confession from his prison cell, he was found guilty of the crime.

"After the verdict was announced, Olson said: "We have followed the trial closely and are certain that a great deal of admissible evidence was not offered by the State."

"I was not co-operate with me and I was never welcome at the offices of the State's Attorney."

"Crowe called me to the witness stand without having discussed my testimony, or having asked me any questions of the case. Several other witnesses who appeared before the Coroner's jury never were offered by the State in the trial."

"It is not to be expected that a man will be convicted of murder unless evidence of murder is presented against him."

"I sent a typewritten statement of my knowledge of the case to Crowe before the trial, and on the witness stand I was asked two or three questions by the prosecution and then turned over to the defense attorneys for cross-examination."

"I may have something to say about the before a bar association convention."

Olson detailed testimony of several witnesses before the Coroner's inquest who were not called in the trial.

There are a number of new angles in the case which we are not yet ready to discuss," Olson concluded.

AN SEEKING FORCE IN PARIS

CHICAGO, June 27.—The automobile accident death rate increased considerably during the month of May, according to the reports of the National Safety Council. There were 29 persons killed in automobile accidents in May in 84 cities reporting, the council announced. This number represents more than 14 deaths each day. The daily automobile death rate per million population reached a new high point for the year during the last month. The death rate for May was 1.35, compared with 1.25 for the month of April, 1924.

Twenty-nine nonfatal personal injury accidents are reported to have occurred during the month of May. This figure is probably low, the council points out, due to the inability of police departments to report on all nonfatal accidents.

The most common circumstances attending the occurrence of automobile accidents during the month of May, as far as the driver was concerned, was "did not have right of way," and "exceeding speed limit." Female motorists were involved in only one-twelfth as many accidents as male drivers.

Almost twice as many male pedestrians were injured or killed as female pedestrians. The circumstances resulting in injuries to pedestrians were "crossing at intersection," and "walking in front of car."

Most of the accidents occurred on dry roads. Almost twice as many accidents occurred at intersections as at places other than intersections.

BOARD DISCUSSES NEW OFFICES FOR THE POLICE HEADS

Proposal to Separate Headquarters From Central District Made by President Orrick.

URGED AS STEP TO INCREASE EFFICIENCY

Available Sites for New Structure or Space in Some Office Building Being Considered

The St. Louis Police Board has been discussing a proposal by President Allen C. Orrick to separate the Police Headquarters from Central District at 208 South Twelfth street, in the interest of more effective direction of police activities, particularly from an administrative viewpoint.

It appears that most members of the board concur in the opinion of President Orrick that it would increase police efficiency to have the administrative headquarters removed from the police station atmosphere created by the presence of the district station.

Detached Offices Favored. Headquarters, it is believed by officials, should take the nature of a working army headquarters, removed from the firing line, where police affairs could be conducted from a detached center. Moreover, members of the board believe, the chiefs and other directing heads would not be hampered by petty station details were they quartered in a detached location.

President Orrick has had considerable military experience, having been a captain of artillery overseas, and while he admitted the desirability of a detached center, he also pointed out that the police station is a place where the police are to be seen and where the public is to be served.

RATS OF TWO MISSING MEN FOUND NEAR THEIR AUTO

Officers Fail to Find Any Trace of Alleged Tennessee Feudists, Who Disappeared Thursday.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 27.—Officers who have been pushing the search for Dr. W. D. Mason, veterinary surgeon, and Lawrence Bowman, alleged federal prohibition officer, and alleged feudist, who disappeared on Signal Mountain Thursday night, returned to the city this morning without trace of the missing men.

Finding of Dr. Mason's abandoned automobile, blood-spattered, and the hats of the two men near the scene was taken as evidence that a fight had occurred and led to the belief that Mason and Bowman had been killed and their bodies carried into the forest and hidden. Bowman's straw hat was broken in and a heavy club which is thought to have been used by the assailants was found nearby.

Sheriff Tom Sellman expressed the opinion that Mason and Bowman had been lured to the mountain by a telephone call, waylaid on the way and murdered. The men were the leaders of a faction which has been at war with what is known as the Godsey clan since the killing of his brother, Ike Bowman, by Sam Godsey, several months ago. The feud is said to have originated because of differences between rival gangs of moonshiners, the Bownmans having been accused of "turning up" stills of the Godseys.

Lawrence Bowman, recently figured in a raid led by W. E. Grubb, Federal prohibition officer, during which the former shot Luther Griffiths, alleged moonshiner, who was drawn into the feud, having aroused the enmity of the Godseys when he captured one of their liquor runners. As the result of this arrest, Grubb accused Sam Godsey, a deputy sheriff of Sequatchie County, of attempting to bribe him to free his aid. Later Godsey shot Grubb on the streets of Chattanooga and is now under bond. Godsey also had Grubb arrested on the charge of selling whisky and his trial was begun yesterday but was continued because of the disappearance of Bowman, a co-defendant.

NEW PHOTOS OF TREASURES FROM TUTANKHAMEN'S TOMB

Pictures Shown by Howard Carter Include Cosmetics Jar — Face Cream Is Being Analyzed.

LONDON, June 27.—Marvelous and hitherto unpublished photographs of treasures found in Tutankhamen's tomb, shown by Howard Carter at his recent lecture to the Royal Society here, were printed yesterday in the Illustrated London News.

One photograph showed a beautiful, cylindrical cosmetic jar with a lion on the lid and feet formed of heads of prisoners of the African and Mediterranean types. The sides are decorated with incised and painted scenes of lions attacking bulls and hounds chasing antelopes, gazelles and hares.

Inside was a still plastic and fragrant face cream which is being analyzed by Dr. Alexander Scott of the British Museum. This may prove valuable to modern beauty.

Another picture was of a gold ceremonial walking stick, with a solid gold statuette of the boy King, which is believed to represent Tutankhamen at the time he ascended the throne. The shaft of the stick was of tubular gold, about four feet long.

There was a wonderful lamp, carved from puds and semitranslucent calcite in the form of a chalice flanked with fretwork, symbolizing unity and eternity. The cup which held the wick floating in oil showed no decoration until it was lighted, when a picture of the King and Queen, in brilliant colors, appeared in the thickness of the calcite.

On a wine jar found in the tomb was inscribed, "Year five of the house of Tutankhamen from the western river, chief of the vintners' kha."

An exquisite lamp was carved from a single block of semitranslucent alabaster.

Many Attend Poultry Meetings. COLUMBIA, Mo., June 27.—More than a thousand poultry producers attended a series of meetings held in Pike, Monroe, Ralls and Marion counties. Harry C. Hensley of the Missouri College of Agriculture spoke at the meetings.

Art Collection Brings $324,675. PARIS, June 27.—The sale of the art collection of the late Maurice Gagnal realized 11,406,000 francs, or about $324,675. Paintings by Renoir brought especially high prices. One, entitled "Barque," for which M. Gagnal paid 2500 francs, brought $174,000.

MISSOURI PARKS
MEET APPROVAL OF EASTERN MAN

Raymond H. Torrey, Field
Secretary of National Conference, Completes Tour of State's Recreation Spots.

By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, June 27.—Missouri's State park system has scenic and recreational features that make the system most unusual and attractive when compared with other park systems of the nation, said Raymond H. Torrey, field secretary of the National Conference of State Parks, as he completed a tour of State parks in Missouri this week. Torrey made the trip in company with Keith McCassey, State Fish and Game Commissioner, and Lawrence B. Hert, recently appointed Chief of Properties. Torrey informed the Missouri people that he was particularly impressed with the unique, large springs in the park tracts in Southern Missouri.

The party first visited the Lenox tract, Dent County, a 11,800-acre expanse of hardwood forest. The mountain and forest scenery of the Ozarks, with its fine stand of oak, hickory and maple, impressed the visitor, who remarked that he had seen in similar areas in New York and Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana and was, he believed, superior to anything of the sort in most Mississippi Valley states.

Visits Big Springs. Torrey was next conducted to several of the immense Missouri springs. He visited the Alley Springs State Park in Shannon County, the Round Springs State Park in Shannon; the Big Spring, Carter County, which flows 223,000 gallons daily; an amount of water sufficient to supply a city of a million people; and Bennett Springs in Laclede County. At Big Springs he visited the 4200 acres of adjoining forest land and inspected the 574 acres of woodland at Bennett Springs.

McCassey reported that Secretary Torrey was enthusiastic in his admiration of the great springs, which he said surpassed anything he had seen in his survey of State parks in the Eastern and Mississippi Valley states. He was amazed at the volume of clear, deep blue water which poured from the limestone cliffs, from which the springs issue and told McCassey in his opinion, Missouri possessed wonders which other states highly well envied.

How Land Is Acquired. Commissioner McCassey explained that Missouri in acquiring the park land at this time had gained the acreage at a low cost, avoiding the mistakes of other states that have depended upon gifts or waited until increased public demand compelled purchase of land at a much higher cost. Torrey urged that Missouri continue this policy and bring into perpetual ownership of the people any other tract of land of similar value, rather than wait until rising values and private development might make such acquisitions difficult or impossible. Torrey predicted that as highway development improved, the parks would become increasingly popular and that state officials would find growing support for a state park policy.

Secretary Torrey cited to Commissioner McCassey the benefits carried to that extent.

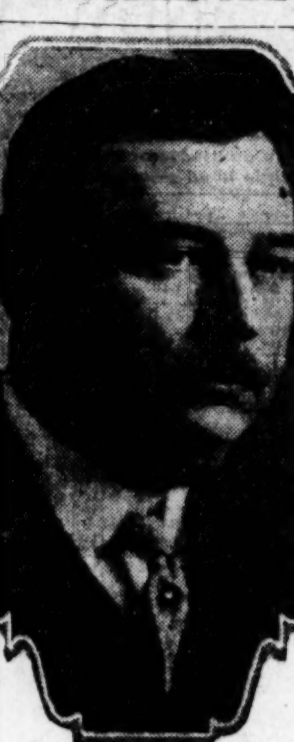

TREASURE TROVE.

From the Los Angeles Express.
THE past enriches the present. Every day there is turned up some treasure long lost, whose existence men had forgotten. Delving into the buried cities of the ancients, the book of the past is opened and the world's history in the heretofore unknown centuries is disclosed. But others as well as archeologists reach into the past—not so far, but in some cases with richer results. There has come to light a picture by Murillo whose existence was unknown. It is called "Christ's Vision in the Garden of Olives." For years the picture was owned by a poor artist, who jealously guarded it from the world. It has now been placed among the national treasures of France. Another great find was a lost opera by Mozart, called "La Finta Semplice." It was one of the composer's earlier works about which the story is told that when he had heard it the jealousy of the court opera director was so aroused he would not permit its production. The score was thrown aside and forgotten, and now, nearly two centuries after the composer's death, is found in Vienna and for the first time performed before an audience.

CHEAPENING COST OF AIR TRAVEL.

From the Detroit News.
A NOTHER boost has been given aviation by the performance of a British "baby" plane with a motor capable of 60 horsepower, though rated at only 27. This machine flew from London to Zurich and back, 1600 miles, in a little less than 10 hours, making the round trip in daylight on a single day. The remarkable feat of the performance was that the trip was made on only 54 gallons of gasoline. The total cost for gas and oil was $25; at the American prices of these commodities it would have been about $13. This is cheap traveling. It is just as cheap as driving a car, and considerably cheaper than driving a motor car. Only when depreciation is taken into account does the performance of a plane fall below that of a flier.

MARSHALL HALL.MARSHALL HALL, HEAD OF GRAIN FIRM, DEAD

He Formerly Was President of Merchants' Exchange—Funeral
Plans Not Made.

Marshall Hall, former president of the Merchants' Exchange and president of the Marshall Hall Grain Co., the Marshall Hall Milling Co. and the Burlington Elevators Co., died at his home, 6342 Waterman avenue, at 1 p. m. yesterday of angina pectoris. He was 50 years of age.

Hall in 30 years had risen to be one of the best informed and most active men in the grain market of St. Louis. He was the son of Carey J. Hall and was born in Northfork, Mason County, Ky., Jan. 13, 1875. In 1891 he began his business career as an employee of the Delaware & Chesapeake Railroad. Three years later he came to St. Louis and was employed by the W. L. Green Commission Co., of which nine years later he became president. The concern continued to operate under that name until 1915, when the Marshall Hall Grain Co. succeeded it.

In 1917 Hall married Miss Inez Bethune in St. Louis. He was an active member of the Delmar Avenue Baptist Church and was a member of the Noonday, Contemporary, Bellerive and the Sunset Hills clubs and of the Missouri Athletic Association.

He is survived by his widow, a daughter, Inez, and three sons, Sydney, Bethune and Marshall Hall Jr. The funeral arrangements are being made by the funeral home of the Delmar Avenue Baptist Church.

Conditions of wealthy citizens in several states toward park systems. He said that New York had received more than $15,000,000 in money and land, that Michigan had been given 52 State parks by individual citizens and that Texas had acquired 51 parks through donations. He suggested that wealthy men and women of Missouri could find no better use for their money or land than by contributing to the development of the State park system.

During the trip Torrey and Commissioner McCassey were guests at a meeting in Lebanon. Mr. McCassey outlined his policy in regard to fish and game culture and explained his program for protection in the State parks. Mr. Torrey told of the development of State parks throughout the United States and expressed his admiration of the immense springs in the Missouri parks he had visited.

BANK'S SUIT AGAINST CITY
OVER TAX TO BE APPEALED

Judge Paris Sets Aside Order—
First National Opposes Payment of $247,775 Capital Stock Tax.
For the purpose of having the higher courts decide whether the city has a right to tax a national bank, Judge Paris of the United States District Court today set aside his order of yesterday, dismissing the suit of the First National Bank to enjoin the city from collecting $247,775.61 tax on its capital stock for 1924.

The action was taken at the request of attorneys on both sides who want to have the question of legality tried on appeal, as could not have been done if the order of dismissal had stood.

The suit, in which Joseph D. Bascom, a stockholder of the bank, joined, set up that Bascom had paid the Government income tax on the dividends from his stock and that if the city tax were collected it would constitute double taxation. The Judge, in dismissing the suit, held that Bascom's failure to obtain exemption on his dividends did not act as an estoppel on the collection of the city tax.

After yesterday's order was made, the attorneys visited Judge Paris in chambers and today's procedure to get a final decision was decided upon. The city withdrew its motion to dismiss. The city will file an answer and the case will be submitted on briefs.

The St. Louis Symphony Society has entered into a contract with S.
E. Macmillan, former business

ruary. He was succeeded by G. A.
Baldini, who, after eight weeks'
service, resigned about three weeks ago and returned to New York.

At the request of the Symphony Society, Macmillan returned to St.
Louis yesterday, and, after conference with Hugo A. Koehler, treasurer, and Oliver F. Richter, chairman of the Tour Committee, agreed to take over the booking of the tour. Three weeks will be booked, two in the South and one in the North. The tour as outlined will include the usual annual visit to New Orleans and other important points.
